American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS): Rand Science and Technology Policy Summer Intern Program

The program targets graduate students with an interest in science and technology policy. An annual award is given to provide graduate students with a unique public-policy learning experience and a close-up look at the Washington D.C. technology policy community. The internship consists of three months at the RAND Institute working on research projects.

Academic Level
Graduate

Field(s) of Study   STEM

Website
http://fellowships.aaas.org/

Nomination Required
Yes